PRACTICE CONFERENCE

THE VALUE OF NURSING IN ACHIEVING PATIENT OUTCOMES

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 2010

7:15 AM – 2:30 PM

Presented by

The Institute for Health Care Education and Connecticut Nursing Research Alliance

Overview

The 14th Annual Evidence Based Practice Conference: The Value of Nursing in Achieving Patient Outcomes, is presented by the Institute of Health Care Education and Connecticut Nursing Research Alliance. The keynote address will be delivered by Dr. Sharon Eck Birmingham, DNSc, MA, BSN, RN, Chief Nursing Executive for the Clairvia Corporation and Adjunct Faculty for the University of North Carolina, University of Iowa and Yale University. The morning session includes your choice of concurrent abstract presentations or skill building sessions. Poster and research awards and lunch will be followed by the plenary address given by Donna Diers, RN, PhD, FAAN, the Annie W. Goodrich Professor of Nursing Emerita at the Yale University School of Nursing and Senior Clinical Coordinator, Decision Support, Yale-New Haven Hospital and Bette Ann White, CPA, MPH, Consultant.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

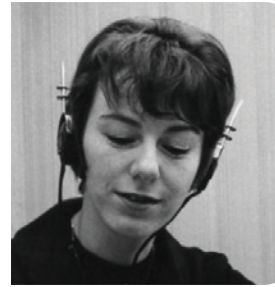

Dr. Sharon Eck Birmingham is a nursing leader and scholar with over twenty-seven years of contribution to nursing service and academia. She currently holds a private sector position as the Chief Nursing Executive for the Clairvia Corporation in Durham, North Carolina, Clairvia specializes in evidenced-based software technologies that transform and sustain improved systems of care. These systems align nursing resources and patient clinical progress, historically held in silos in staffing and scheduling systems and the electronic health record. Sharon serves in adjunct faculty appointments at the University of North Carolina, University of Iowa and Yale University.

Dr. Birmingham obtained her BSN and Master's Degree from The University of Iowa and Doctoral degree from Yale University. She conducted her doctoral dissertation on "The Effect of Nurse Staffing on Clinical, Organizational and Financial Outcomes." Sharon is currently a co-Principle Investigator on a national nursing turnover study with Drs. Cheryl Jones and Barbara Mark at UNC. She is an active member in AONE, ANA, Sigma Theta Tau Honor Society, NCONL, and the American Academy of Ambulatory Nursing.

PLENARY SPEAKERS

Dr. Donna Diers is the Annie W. Goodrich Professor of Nursing Emerita at the Yale University School of Nursing and Senior Clinical Coordinator, Decision Support, Yale- New Haven Hospital. She also holds Adjunct Professor appointments at the University of Technology, Sydney, and has been a Visiting Professor at Massey University in New Zealand. In the United States, Professor Diers is identified with the emergence of clinical nursing research methodologies, as she wrote the first book on that subject. She is also recognized for her work on the policy and politics of advanced practice nursing (nurse practitioner and nurse-midwifery). In Australia, her work with case mix for clinical practice and operational management is particularly well known. Her publications have appeared in all major nursing journals in the USA and in many journals in health services in the US and Australia. She was Dean of the Yale School of Nursing for 12 ½ years and later Editor of Image – Journal of Nursing Scholarship for eight years.

Bette Ann White, CPA, MPH, Consultant has a strong accounting and finance background, specializing in healthcare finance since 1987. She has overseen hospital managed care budgeting and reimbursement departments and was the CFO for a physician practice management company. Bette Ann has focused her efforts on managing nursing costs in a complex academic medical center environment.

THE CONNECTICUT NURSING RESEARCH ALLIANCE is comprised of seventeen colleges, universities and acute care institutions throughout Connecticut. The Alliance seeks to provide a network of support for nurses and nursing students in evidence-based practice activities including nursing research and research utilization. The mission of this Alliance is to promote and improve the health of individuals and communities by supporting evidence-based nursing practice through collaborative efforts.
